

Macrogen-Europe Internship vacancy

Macrogen Inc. is one of the leading companies in the world for gene analysis services including DNA sequencing, bioinformatics and biochips.

We, Macrogen Europe, a branch office located in Amsterdam, provide services to various public institutes and private companies in Europe and Africa. For the very rapidly and dynamically developing European market we are looking for an intern.

The role:

- Conduct DNA sequencing experiments
- Genome Market research
- Research of current genomic technology
- Assist general administrative tasks

Requirements:

Applicants should be students majoring Biochemistry, Biology, Microbiology, Immunology or other Biological Sciences